Date	Time (Minutes)	Task
March 18th	30	Created a team landing page so that when a member of a team clicks on one of the teams, they are a part of, they are shown a page that greets them to the team and provides them with a button (next feature under) that lets them request access to a channel. Was mostly CSS but also needed some logic change to display the page appropriately.
March 20-21	300	Requesting to join a channel logic implemented in the front end and the back end. Ensured the button to request to join channels that a user is not a part of shows up on the team landing page, and when pressed, brings up a dropdown of channels they are not a part of yet. When they select a channel, the system will send a request with a notification badge on the channel admins side and will let them accept or reject the request.
